Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 31 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and warm today. Turning colder to end the week.

Today:
A locally chilly start but dry and bright with periods of sunshine, sometimes hazy with some fair-weather cloud. Becoming warm through the afternoon with light winds, then turning cloudier in the far north with some drizzle by the evening. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming cloudy overnight with outbreaks of light rain and drizzle spreading across the region. Drier again through the early hours with a few clear spells and turning cold. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Thursday:
Much colder on Thursday but dry and mostly bright with some sunny spells although perhaps cloudier over coasts and hills. A chilly breeze from the North Sea. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Dry, bright and rather chilly through Friday and Saturday with sunny spells and light winds after overnight frost. Windier on Sunday with a spell of rain then much colder later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.